[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Milwaukee, Wis., August 1.—The laying of the cornerstone of Milwaukee's half million dollar auditorium today was made the occasion of an elaborate civic celebration. According to the plans, the auditorium will possess every modern feature necessary for the convenience and accommodation of large assemblies. The building is to be located on the block bounded by Fifth, Cedar, Sixth, and State streets and the dimensions are 320 by 420 feet. The arena will be large enough to accommodate a three ring circus and the seating capacity will be 8,500.

Sheboygan, Wis., August 1.—The forest fire raging in the Black River summer resort area miles north of here since last night is now under control. The farmers and others are still working and the fire is still burning but undoubtedly will be confined to about fifty acres. The cottages along the river have been saved. Huge furrows are being plowed around the fire.

Defaulter Schulte Captured.
Racine, Wis., August 1.—John P. Schulte, the defaulter paying teller of the First National bank of this city, was arrested at Cleveland, O., yesterday, less than twenty-two hours after his flight from Racine, and it was discovered that there was a shortage of $15,000 in his accounts. A telegram was received by George S. Pratt, cashier of the bank, informing him of the arrest of Schulte and later Mr. Pratt received a telephone message from the office of the United States marshal at Milwaukee confirming the telegram message.

Schulte himself gave the key to the federal authorities which led to his arrest. He reached Cleveland Wednesday evening and there wrote letters to his wife and to Mr. Pratt. In the letter to Mr. Pratt, Schulte admitted that he had taken $15,000 of the bank's money and that it had been used in speculating in oil and mining stocks as well as in stocks and bonds. This money had been taken within two months as the auditing committee of

NEWS FORECAST OF THE COMING WEEK

Primary Election Will Be Held In A Number of States This Next Week.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, D. C., August 1.—The coming week will see the republican national campaign headquarters in New York running in full blast. Judge Taft plans to spend the week as quietly as circumstances will permit. Mr. Bryan, at his home near Lincoln, will put the finishing touches to his speech of acceptance.

Outside the sphere of the national campaign the week holds in promise a number of events of interest and importance in the world of politics. Primary elections will be held in several states and nearly all cases it will be the first trial of the system of direct nominations.

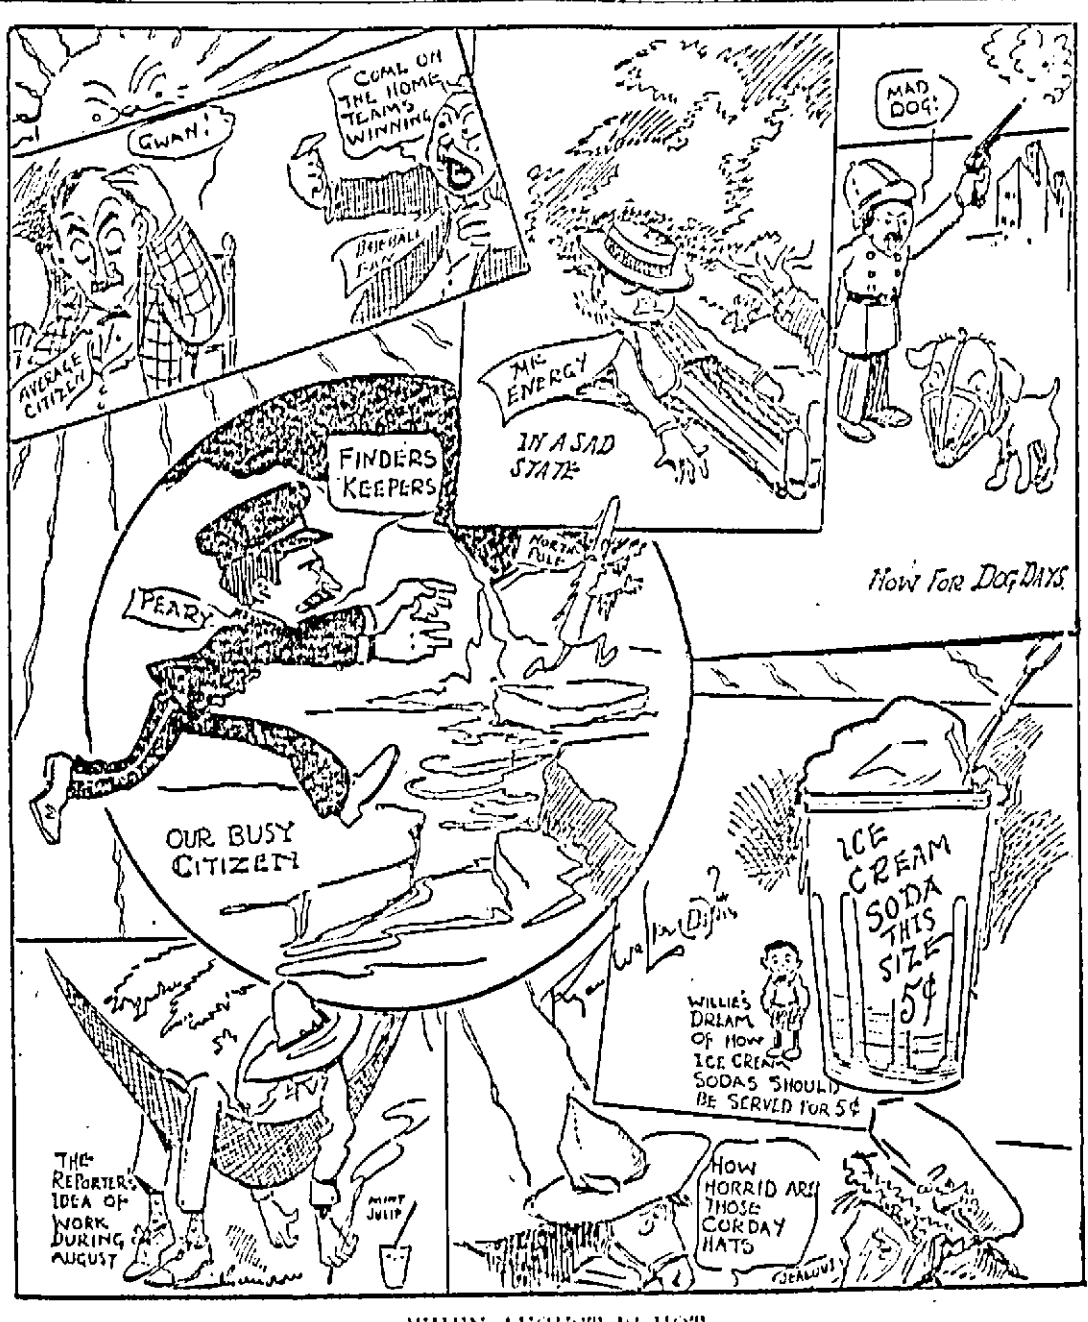

State-wide primaries will be held Tuesday in Kansas and Missouri. The Kansas contest involves the governorship and other state offices and also the question of a successor to Chester I. Long in the United States senate. In Missouri the interest centers chiefly in the three-cornered fight for the democratic nomination for governor. The republicans will head their ticket with the name of Herbert S. Hadley, the present attorney general.

The Illinois primary, the first to be held in that state, will take place Saturday. Governor Deneen and ex-Governor Yates are fighting it out for the republican gubernatorial nomination, while on the democratic side there are five contestants in the race. The seat of Senator Hopkins also is involved in the result of the primary.

Primaries for legislative and minor offices will be held Tuesday in Oklahoma and in Idaho the democrats will meet in convention at Wallace to name a state ticket.

The trial of Mae C. Wood, on a charge of forgery and perjury alleged to have been committed in her suit for divorce from United States Senator Thomas C. Platt, is set down to begin in New York Monday, but it probably will be postponed until fall.

At the end of the week the American battleship fleet will reach Auckland, New Zealand, thus completing

MAY MAKE SENTENCE HEADQUARTERS WERE LIFE IMPRISONMENT OPENED IN NEW YORK

Attorneys of New York Murderess Are Attempting to Have Sentence Commuted.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, N. Y., August 1.—Mrs. Mary Farmer, the condemned murderess of Mrs. Sarah Brennan of Brownsville, is under sentence to die in the electric chair at the state prison here next week, but steps taken by her counsel looking to another trial will serve to prevent the sentence being carried out at the present time. The prevailing impression is that the sentence ultimately will be commuted to one of life imprisonment. The woman herself has displayed little emotion since her conviction and appears to be indifferent to her fate.

Mrs. Farmer's crime was one of the most heinous in the criminal annals of the North West. Her victim, who was 55 years old, was her neighbor and intimate friend and the motive was to gain possession of the Brennan home, deeds of which Mrs. Farmer had forced. Mrs. Brennan was locked to pieces and her body stuffed in a trunk. Mrs. Farmer's husband is also under indictment on a charge of murder in the first degree as necessary to the crime.

PYTHIANS GATHERING FOR BIG ENCAMPMENT

Twenty-Fifth Biennial National Encampment Occurs in Boston Next Week.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Boston, Mass., August 1.—Boston has capitulated to an invading force of 10,000 uniformed Knights of Pythias who have gathered here for the twenty-fifth biennial national encampment of the order. Arrangements for the entertainment of the thousands of visitors have been in progress for months past and today the bustling metropolis was given to the program. The entire business district of the city is gayly decorated with the national colors and the emblems of the order. The decorations of some of the big business houses on Washington, Tremont and Beacon streets are especially elaborate and elicited much admiration from the visitors. The Knights will be quartered in 2,000 tents which have been erected on Franklin Field. The camp has been named after one of the great departed Pythian leaders, Joseph H. Lyon. The "tent city" covers seventy-five acres of the big public playground, with the usual "square" in the center and a main street down the middle. For convenience a main tent has been erected, and in addition, dining tents, with running water in each. There also will be large reception and hospital tents, with a corps of physicians and nurses constantly in attendance.

Two great parades will be the spectacular features of the week. One will be held Tuesday, when 10,000 uniformed men will be in line in the Uniform Rank parade. On the following day will take place the parade of the subordinate lodges, with 18,000 members of the order marching. Following the second parade the drill competition in camp will begin and continue morning and afternoon Thursday and Friday. On Wednesday evening there will be a reception by the supreme lodge to all members of the order in Mechanics' hall. The program of the encampment will continue until Tuesday, Aug. 11, when it will be brought to a close with a banquet to the supreme lodge members and their ladies at the Hotel Somerset.

MISSOURI PRIMARY LAW TO BE TRIED OUT TUESDAY

Neither Politicians Nor General Public En- tirely Satisfied With Change.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
St. Louis, Mo., August 1.—The Missouri primary law, providing for the direct nomination of candidates for states, congressional and county offices, will be tried out for the first time next Tuesday. Neither the politicians nor the general public appears entirely satisfied with the change by which the delegate conventions are superseded by the system of direct nominations. The party managers are opposed to the primary because it takes from them much of the power and influence they heretofore have exercised in the selection of candidates for office. The objection of the taxpayers arises from the fact that they will have to bear the expense of the primary, which is estimated at not less than $175,000.

Candidates for Congress and a complete state ticket will be named at the primary by both the democratic and republican parties. The contests for nomination are nearly all on the democratic side and the chief interest naturally centers in the fight for the head of the ticket. The contest for the seat of Governor Folk are David A. Ball of Pike county, former Congressman William S. Cowherd and Judge William H. Wallace.

Mr. Cowherd is one of the best known politicians in the state. He is a native of Missouri and a graduate of the state university. Since his admission to the bar in 1882 he has practiced law in Kansas City and has been honored with the mayoralty and other public offices in that city. For several years he represented the Fifth district in Congress.

David A. Ball likewise is a well known politician. His political opponents have dubbed him the "personal candidate" because of the frequency with which he has sought or been mentioned for public office. His previous campaigns have given him a considerable following in each county in the state. This is expected to prove of great benefit to him in a primary, where strength will be cumulative. The Republicans of Cowherd and Ball have been inclined to pay little attention to Judge William H. Wallace, the third candidate for the democratic gubernatorial nomination. Nevertheless Wallace has been conducting an energetic campaign and his recent meetings have been so well attended that his opponents were forced to take notice. Some of the friends of Judge Wallace declare he will sweep the large democratic counties of the state like a whirlwind. His platform takes a high moral stand and his support is expected to come almost wholly from the temperance and church element.

For the offices of lieutenant governor, auditor and nearly all of the other places on the state ticket the democrats have two or more candidates in the field. The republicans now are in control of all the state offices with the exception of the governorship. The republican ticket easily can be forecasted. Herbert S. Hadley, the present attorney general, will be named for governor without opposition. Of the balance of the ticket, John Swanger, secretary of state, asks a return from the people to his office. His is the only name which will appear upon the ballot for a second term.

Joseph P. Gmelch of Booneville will be named by the republicans for lieutenant-governor. The nomination for state auditor will go to Jesse A. Tolerton of Jefferson City will be named for treasurer. The only nominations for which there are more than one candidate are those for attorney general and railroad and warehouse commissioner.

There is a sentiment and belief among the republican leaders that, in spite of some of the handicaps of the primary system, the party will go before the people in November with one of the strongest tickets ever placed in the field. The republicans have one distinct advantage, which they have not enjoyed in previous years. For many years past they have had to conduct the campaign as a minority party. This year the party has a satisfactory record on which it can go before the people and ask for an expression of confidence from the electors.

The quartet all belonged to the same lodge and at a recent meeting, it is said, they approved the murder of a white farmer by his negro tenant.

UNCLE SAM IS DISPLEASED

DAVILA'S ACTION IS THOUGHT TO BE UNWARRANTED.

American Consular Officials Declare
They Did Not Aid the Revolutionists in Honduras.
Washington, Aug. 1.—An unpleasant situation has developed between the United States and Honduras, growing out of the action of President Davila in cancelling the exequaturs of the foreign consuls at Colima, Honduras, because of their alleged friendliness to the revolutionists' cause. These officials include American Consul Drew Linard and Vice-Consul France and Norway. The reports which have reached the state department uphold the contention of the consuls that they have not been guilty of any breach of propriety, that they did not advise the surrender of the town when demanded by the revolutionists, as charged by Honduras, but simply communicated the demand to the commandant. The incident has caused considerable annoyance to this government, which ever since the revolution in Honduras commenced has exerted its best efforts to prevent any breach of neutrality in Central America which might prove adverse to President Davila's government. Assistant Secretary Bacon had a call Friday from Senator Ugarre, the Honduran minister, who presented Mr. Bacon some information he had received from Foreign Minister Pallas, giving the Honduras side of the controversy. Mr. Bacon will take up the matter again next week. He had intended to start on an official mission to Porto Rico Saturday, but this and other state department questions demanding his attention made it necessary for him to delay his departure. San Salvador, Republic of Salvador, Aug. 1.—It was officially stated Friday that the revolution in Honduras had been suppressed. Takes Highways House. Fred Vogel has taken over the management of the Highland House formerly run by George Watt. Mr. Vogel expects to continue to run the hotel for some time as he has taken a lease with the privilege of renewal.

TWENTY-EIGHT YEARS OF SQUARE DEALING

That is the Record of A. N. Dort, Whose Retirement from Large Mercantile Firm Has Been Announced.

A. N. Dort of Beloit, whose retirement from the firm of Dort, Bailey & Co. was briefly noticed in yesterday's Gazette, has been engaged in the dry goods business over twenty-eight years. The firm of Dort & Bailey was established in Beloit, May 16, 1880, with Mr. Dort and P. J. Bailey as its members. In 1886 the Janesville store was opened and W. H. Greenman of Utica, New York, was admitted to the partnership. Since that time it has been known as Dort, Bailey & Co. and undeviating adherence to the policy of fair dealing has enabled it to build up great mercantile institutions both in Beloit and Janesville. Mr. Dort, who has been in charge of the Beloit store, has earned and won the confidence of Beloit people by the same upright business methods which have secured for him the highest honors in the Modern Woodmen fraternal organization.

In the councils of this order he has long been prominent, having served as head banker for one term and as a member of its board of directors for many terms. Recently he was made chairman of the board, and he is also a member of the committee of three which has supervision of the operation of the Woodmen tuberculosis sanatorium at Colorado Springs. At the last session of the head camp a tax of two cents per year on each member for the maintenance of this institution was authorized, which means that annual funds of $100,000 will be contributed by the 1,000,000 who are affiliated with the brotherhood. His manifold duties in connection with these positions of trust have made it inadvisable for him to retire from commercial activity. While retaining his residence in Beloit, he will henceforth devote all of his time to the great undertakings in which the Woodmen are engaged. P. J. Bailey of this city, who does the buying for both stores, will eventually dispose of his home in Janesville and go to Beloit to take charge of the Linc. City branch. Temporarily W. H. Greenman will assume the management there. The firm name will not be changed.

A picnic to the Cary farm is to be arranged that those who have contributed may, if they wish, go out and see the little folks and enjoy the day with them. The time set for this picnic is Friday, Aug. 7, and the picnic in regard to transportation will be made later. GET NO ADVICE FROM HITCHCOCK

NEW YORK LEADERS OBTAIN NO OPINION ON HUGHES.

CHAIRMAN IS VERY WARY

Carefully Avoids Mixing in Empire State Politics—Taft Compelled to Refuse to Go to Colorado.

New York, Aug. 1.—If the Republican political leaders of New York state, who conferred Friday with Frank H. Hitchcock, chairman of the Republican national committee, hoped to draw from the Taft manager an expression of opinion as to the wisdom of re-nominating Gov. Hughes or of turning him down, they were sorely disappointed. Practically the entire day was spent by Mr. Hitchcock in listening to state leaders expound their views on the governorship question, but he told them all that it was not a part of his duties to pick candidates for state tickets.

He declared that he would not consent to take any part in purely state campaigns, so long as no party branch that might endanger the national ticket was threatened.

Not only did Mr. Hitchcock conceal his own preference in regard to the governorship, but he successfully eluded every effort on the part of the callers to learn whether President Roosevelt and Judge Taft were in favor of the re-nomination of Hughes. He said he had not discussed the question at Cincinnati with the Republican nominee for president, nor had he received any communication from Mr. Roosevelt regarding the matter.

Leaders Who Saw Hitchcock

Among the leaders who saw Mr. Hitchcock were Timothy L. Woodruff, state chairman; Herbert Parsons, chairman of the New York county committee, and William L. Ward, member of the national committee representing this state. Very little was learned of the discussion about the governorship, but the conference will not result in clarifying the situation to any great extent is conceded.

Messrs. Parsons and Woodruff sought information as to Judge Taft's wishes and did not get it. They learned instead that Mr. Hitchcock had advised in the past and would counsel in the future that the management of the national campaign should be conducted so as not to become involved in any state disputes of a factional nature. He urged that the state convention was the proper machinery to be used in settling state political controversies. It is believed that in this matter Mr. Hitchcock reflects Mr. Taft's attitude.

Colorado Invites Taft

Hot Springs, Va., Aug. 1.—Colorado wants Mr. Taft's presence in September, according to an urgent invitation which came Friday from the management of the Interstate fair and exposition to be opened Labor day in Denver. As the acceptance of the invitation would mean an abandonment of Mr. Taft's present plan to conduct his personal campaign without travel, his regrets were sent.

New Taft clubs were reported from New York city, Philadelphia, Beaumont, Cal., Kendallville, Ind., Knoxville, Tenn. (colored), East Orange, N. J., Middletown, O., Lanowboro, Miss., West Milton, Pa., Phoenix, Va., Cincinnati, O., and Woodstock, Va.

It is expected that every Grand Army post in the country will take up the movement. Contributions of one dollar or more are to be received from all citizens.

BIG FIRE IN PHILADELPHIA.

Hamburg-America Pier and Quantities of Merchandise Burn.

Philadelphia, Aug. 1.—The Hamburg-America line pier of the International Mercantile Marine company, at pier 46 South Delaware avenue, was destroyed by a spectacular fire Friday night, entailing a loss estimated at $400,000.

The fire is supposed to have been started by crossed electric wires. The German steamer Albano, from Hamburg, was anchored at the pier and had to be towed out into the river. The cargo of the boat was on the wharf and was destroyed together with great quantities of general merchandise, including 1,000 boxes of bur-lap. A train of freight-cars was on the tracks in the long wharf shed and while the fire raged Ebbett Hamilton ran a locomotive out on the pier and ran the train out on the Delaware avenue tracks where it was deluged by the firemen.

The burning burlap sent up dense clouds of smoke and a number of firemen were overcome. One fireman fell overboard while fighting the blaze and was rescued with difficulty and another was hit by a falling beam and an injured that he had to be taken to a hospital.

It is one of the most peculiar cases that has ever come to the attention of local physicians. A post-mortem examination developed that a minute sharp instrument, resembling the point of a needle, had entered her heart through the arteries.

$25 FOR A LETTER

CAN YOU WRITE ONE?

Eight Prizes to Be Awarded in a Letter Writing Contest Open to Everyone in Wisconsin.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been used in this state for a generation. Hundreds of remarkable cures have been reported during that time and there is scarcely a family in which the remedy has not been tried with beneficial results. This furnishes the material for the letters to be written in this contest. There is no demand upon the imagination, every narrative must deal with facts.

The Prizes.

The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., of Schenectady, N. Y., will award a prize of $25.00 for the best letter received on or before August 8, 1908, from the state of Wisconsin, on the subject, "Why I recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

A prize of $10.00 will be awarded for the second best letter received, a prize of $5.00 for the third best and five prizes of one dollar each for the next best five letters.

The Conditions.

The cure or benefit from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills described in the letter may be in the writer's own case or one that has come under his or her personal observation.

More than one cure may be described in the letter, so long as every statement made is literally true.

The letter should be no longer than is necessary to relate the benefit obtained from the remedy in the case described.

Each letter must be signed by the writer with his or her name and full address and the letter must give the correct name and address of the person whose cure is described. "THIS WILL BE STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL" and will not be made public.

Letters containing addresses that cannot be verified will not be considered in awarding the prizes.

The writer of each letter must state the name and date of the paper in which he or she saw the announcement of this competition.

Pine writing will not win the prize unless you have a good cause to describe. The strength of the recommendation and not the style of the letter will be the basis of award.

The contest will close August 8, 1908. Do not delay, but if you know of a cure write your letter NOW. Observe the above conditions carefully or your letter may be thrown out.

Address all letters as follows:

To Cut Plate Glass.

To cut a piece of plate glass it is thought a diamond cutter is necessary, but it is not. If the glass is not very thick it can be cut with a pair of scissors, a large pair being preferable. While cutting hold the glass beneath half a foot or more of water, and it can be cut any shape desired. A round piece of glass has been cut out of a good sized pane in just this manner. The scissors do not have to be extra sharp.—Success.

Science and Invention

AWAY WITH THE HOD!

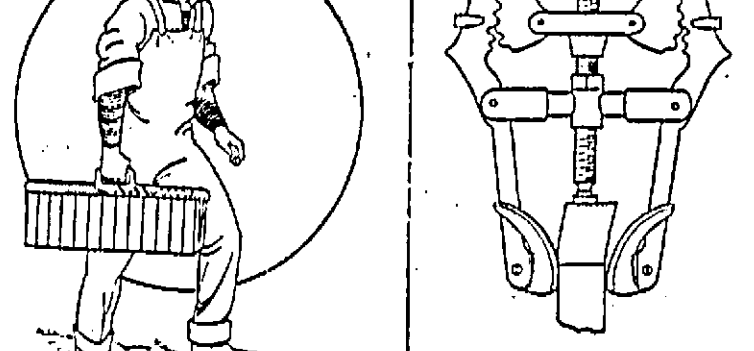

Hefets Can Now Be Carried Quicker and Easier by Hand.

A man in Ohio has patented a device for carrying blocks by hand that is in several ways superior to the old method, and is an advantage to both the employer and the workman. This device consists of a clamp made of two parallel iron bars, with jaws at either end and slots in the sides. This clamp is not down over a row of blocks and locked with a bolt through the slots. So the blocks are held firmly by the jaws. The clamp also has a handle, by means of which the load may be picked up and carried about as one would carry a dress suitcase. The advantages of this device are several, in

WOODWORKING CLAMP

Adjustable Apparatus for Gripping Curved Sections of Woodwork.

A woodworking clamp, especially valuable for gripping and holding curved sections of woodwork is shown in the accompanying illustration. The invention of a Michigan man. The clamping of straight sections of woodwork has never proven difficult for the cabinet-maker, but the joining of curved pieces invariably presents problems difficult of solution. With the aid of this adjustable clamp curved sections can be glued and clamped just as readily as straight pieces and are held with the ordinary clamp. The grippers are formed with curved surfaces so that they will conform to the curve of the woodwork. These grippers are manipulated by a clamp screw in the center of the device. By turning the screw the grippers are forced outward on pivots, thus forcing the grippers inward.

TO CARRY BRICKS BY HAND.

The first place, it weighs much less than a hod and will carry more bricks. In the second place, if the bricks are placed in a line by another man the carriers can all their clamps move rapidly, providing they will do so. In the third place, the workmen need not bruise and skin their hands by handling the bricks, the building operations where loaders must be climbed, however, the load appears to have no advantage, as it leaves both hands free.

SCIENCE NOTES

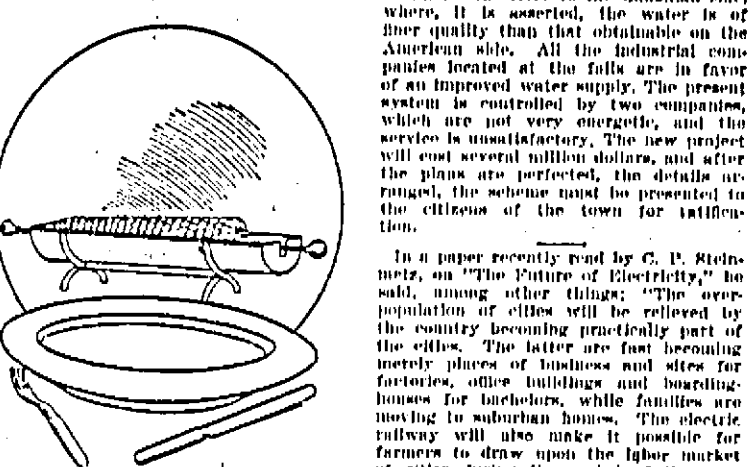

With all the water which passes over Niagara Falls the little city at the brink of the great precipice, and which bears its name, has long had a water supply with left much to be desired. The first step toward bettering this condition has just been made by the appointment of a commission to take the subject in hand and make a report. What seems to be the most feasible plan is to carry a tunnel under the river to the Canadian side, where, it is asserted, the water is of better quality than that obtainable on the American side. All the industrial companies located at the falls are in favor of an improved water supply. The present system is controlled by two companies, which are not very energetic, and the service is unsatisfactory. The new project will cost several million dollars, and after the plans are perfected, the details arranged, the scheme must be presented to the citizens of the town for ratification.

In a paper recently read by C. P. Steinmetz, on the "Future of Electricity," he said, among other things: "The over-population of cities will be relieved by the country becoming practically part of the cities. The latter are fast becoming merely places of business and stores for houses for the future, while families are moving to suburban homes. The electric railway will also make it possible for farmers to draw upon the labor market of cities during the period of the year when they require extra help, men leaving their factories or other employment temporarily to go into the country." Mr. Steinmetz, in conclusion, expressed the opinion that the time may come when the government will have to take charge of all energy, human and otherwise, and direct it in order that the best conditions in life may be secured and maintained for the great populations of the future, deprived of many of the present gifts of nature.

COB CORN LOSES TERROR

Need No Longer Flee From Plate Nor Surrender the Plagues.

Through the ingenuity of a New York restaurant man, corn on the cob may now be eaten without amercement. This man has devised a combination corn holder which not only keeps the ear from rolling off one's plate, but also enables the diner to manipulate it by means of a rod at either end and avoid smearing the fingers. A form of corn holder was invented several years ago, but it did not meet all the requirements, as does this latest type, and fell into disuse. The holder described in the cut consists of a trough a little longer and wider than an ear of corn and with slots in its end walls. Two rods, with knobs by which to hold them, are thrust into the ends of the cob. When eating the corn the holder can be held in these bands, and when the ear is laid down it can be placed in the trough without fear that it will roll off the plate and leave a track of melted butter on the hostess' snowy tulle.

COB CORN LOSES TERROR.

HAIR STAYS WHERE PLACED.

A new system of illumination is offered by the discovery of Professor Hien, of Germany, which is a liquid illuminating gas to be delivered at the houses of customers at regular periods in much the same manner as coal oil and other commodities are delivered at the present time. A 22-gallon cylinder of gas is sufficient to supply a 30-candlepower light for four months if used four hours per day. The means of connection between the burner and the reservoir is through a tube no thicker than an electric light wire and just as flexible.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT

There are certain seasons of the year when the weather comes in for general discussion. It is the easiest thing imaginable to talk about, for it never takes back and no opinions are disputed.

Just now the intense heat of an old-fashioned midsummer is the topic of general conversation, and a stranger to this planet would readily conclude that the weather was establishing a new record; yet the fact remains that the same sun has been doing business in the same old-fashioned way for many centuries.

For a week, during the summer of 1862, the grain was harvested and corn cultivated by moonlight in northern Illinois, because the days were too hot for either man or beast. This of course was exceptional and people talked freely, but the weather was not materially affected until an old-time tornado stirred up the atmosphere and brought relief.

There are several other topics which are discussed about as freely as the weather, and with the same degree of intelligence. One of them is the railroads, which many people have come to regard as a streak of rust running through the country, very much to its detriment.

The fact is ignored that a land without railroads is a wilderness, devoid of culture or civilization, and that the value of real estate, especially in the rural districts, is dependent upon means of transportation.

State after state has been added to the union during the past half century, because the nation's great highways have opened them up, overcoming obstacles that seemed insurmountable.

These much-deplored and cursed and discussed railroads are the great arteries through which the life blood of the nation beats and throbs. They place all sections of the country in close touch with each other and distribute products of the soil so evenly that practically uniform prices prevail.

That long Pullman train on the sidings at the little way station, is the westbound Overland Limited, sidetracked for the heavy fruit train which has the right-of-way, and goes thundering by at 50 miles an hour. The cargo of these daily trains supplies the market in every town and hamlet with California fruit at prices within the reach of the masses. Twenty-five years ago corn in Kansas and Nebraska was used for fuel because it wasn't worth shipping. Today it is worth almost as much as wheat. The railroads with all their splendid equipment have brought the east and west so close together that the home market has become the greatest market in the world for American products.

But the railroads are had at heart and need regulating. They favor large shippers and give rebates; yet every last shipper, of whatever magnitude, has his hand out for a rake-off. The man who ships a car of stock expects a round-trip pass, and if he happens to have a couple of cars, takes his neighbor along for company.

Some years ago, when the man who bought a ticket was a novelty, a country merchant stepped aboard for a home-bound train, a smile on his face and a piece of paper in his hand, exclaiming, "I've got it at last."

He had secured a round-trip pass to market once a month in consideration of freight to be shipped over the line. This man was the rule and not the exception. If he couldn't do business with the railway officials he could cultivate some weak conductor, and then tell his friends about it.

The abolishing of the pass evil was a benefit to the railroads, and the two-cent fare should bring into the treasury more money than ever before, as it doubtless does.

Another fruitful topic for free discussion is the Standard Oil company, and the decision of the appellate court, reversing the Judge Landis $29,240,000 fine, has made it more fruitful. Yet the man don't live, outside the little group who have been hurt by competition, who can name a grievance against the Standard Oil Co., that would hold water for a moment.

What has the company done to make it so villainous. They secured a rate of six cents from their oil fields at Whiting to St. Louis in car lots, not a printed rate, because they were the only shipper, neither a special rate, because any other railroad shipper of oil in tank cars could have secured the same rate. Who was injured by it? Nobody. Who profited by it? The consumer, for he always pays the freight, be it more or less.

What has the Standard Oil company done for the country? It has developed to perfection a great industry and placed one of the necessities of life at every man's door with free delivery, and at a price which has been reasonable and free from sharp fluctuation for 20 years.

Through its pipe lines, tank car service, and system of agencies it has become the one and only product without a freight bill attachment.

Down in the southwest coast of Florida, launches of all sizes and descriptions run in for fuel to the little town of Punta Gorda. Thousands of gallons of gasoline are sold every week. Yet the price 1000 miles from the oil fields is practically the same as in Wisconsin.

This is a part of the "system" which Tom Lawson and his cohorts never mention, and which people generally do not take into account.

The men who denounce the Standard Oil Co. the most vigorously are usually men whose library is composed of two volumes—the Bible and the mail order house catalogue.

The dust on the former indicates that it is a family heirloom, respected but not in daily use, while the emeralds on the latter speak of constant communion.

Talk to these people about loyalty to home enterprises, and they shrug their shoulders and point with pride to the bargains secured. The country merchant is a good outlet for butter, and eggs, but he has no license to be in business.

These people have a great deal of sympathy for the oil man, crowded out by competition, but no thought for the neighbor whose trade dwindle away because of mail order patronage. It is popular to denounce wealth and to envy the men who possess it, and when the Standard Oil Co. was fined 29 million dollars Judge Landis became a hero, but the fine was unjust and it is well for the country that the decision was reversed. There have been too many prosecutions where prosecution was a leading factor in the case. The nation will breathe easier when Secretary Taft is in control, and appeals to ignorance and prejudice will be no longer popular.

PRESS COMMENT.

Rejoice While We May.

Green Bay Gazette: Cheer up, there still are two or three roads that Hurrian hasn't put his brand on.

Dividends of Reform.

Milwaukee Sentinel: Carlin Nation is now worth $200,000. Every back with that little hatchet helped some—for Carlin.

Rude Greetings to John.

Mainflower Tribune: John Aylward is to speak at the Labor day picnic. Scorn one for the democrats—one elpher.

A Prize Lazy Man.

Exchange: A lazy New Yorker asks for a self-loading pipe. If he got it he would want address tobacco.

Beloit Free Press: Beloit is being sandwiched in nicely by the circuses which come first to Rockford and then to Janesville.

Milwaukee Free Press: That large broad smile you see coming down the street belongs to the ice man. Meanwhile the coal man is smilling up his sleeve. You can't escape 'em.

Humor of Wu.

Chicago Tribune: Mr. Wu made a speech in Washington a few days ago in praise of working as the best exercise in the world. Then he laboriously boarded a street car and rode to the Chinese legation. Mr. Wu is a born humorist.

Advent of the Leonids.

Evening Wisconsin: The Leonids, or August meteors, may be looked for on the 10th, 11th and 12th. The latter is the day set for the notification of Candidate Bryan, and if there is clear weather at Lincoln the Leonids may save expense for Roman candles.

La Crosse Also in Line.

La Crosse Chronicle: To the inquiry "What's the matter with Uncle Ro?" the invariable answer is that "He's all right." The record in the senate is unsatisfactory at any point. He is a strong man there. He deserves to be re-nominated and we have no doubt of his success at the polls in September.

The Night Riders.

Exchange: The alarming reports of renewed activity on the part of the night riders in Kentucky continue. The situation evidently is a difficult one. Those who hoped that a firm show of strength on the part of the authorities would quiet conditions have been disappointed. Every attempt at control has been followed by fresh outbreaks. If information is given the representatives of the law the informers suffer in person or property. The tobacco war has been going on for a good many months. When it will end no one can tell. The situation resembles several others in former years of American history where real grievances made the people forget the fundamental importance of law and order.

Mr. Hearst Pains Mr. Bryan.

Chicago Tribune: There is a platform note only partly concealed in the comments of William Jennings Bryan upon the platform adopted by the independence party and Mr. Hearst. Mr. Bryan really cannot for the life of him see why they did it. The necessity for a new party, so apparent to Mr. Hearst and his friends, takes no form visible to the eyes of William J. B.

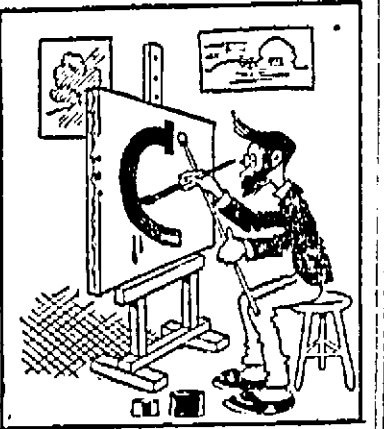

Mr. Bryan has been unable to understand Tom Watson. Now he is unable to understand Mr. Hearst. He is able merely to hope that no great numbers of democratic voters will be led by error to follow the pair of false Mosesses.

He should not be mystified. He should be able to recognize the tactics, plans, and hopes of the two who puzzle him. These are of the same family as his own tactics, plans, and hopes, and he should be able to recognize the facial resemblance.

Mr. Hearst's platform contains nothing which gives the world pause for thought. Mr. Bryan hits on that fact and finds in it ground for complaint and reason to wonder why they should have addressed him by setting up a new banner for the attainment of democratic voters.

The elementary purpose of Mr. Hearst's personally conducted uprising is to appeal to the "kicker." Mr. Bryan himself has played the part of head professor for this school of political thought. He should not be surprised if other instructors arise to conduct a post-graduate class in it.

Mr. Hearst's uprising has collected bits of junk from political scrap piles and bits of unfinished material from political experimental stations. Nothing has been too old or too new to be placed in the mosaic upon which the new party takes its stand.

What kind of a vehicle?

A Dishonest Dollar.
You cannot hide a dishonest dollar. You take a dishonest dollar and bury it clear down in the deepest part of earth, it will not stay there. You may roll it on rocks and mountains hundreds of miles, you may attempt to put that dishonest dollar down in the center of the earth; it will not stay there. No! It will begin to rock and heave and upturn itself, until it comes to the resur-rection of damnation.—Talmage.

No Mustaches in Alaska.
Mustaches are not worn by men exposed to the severity of an Alaskan winter. They wear full beards to protect the throat and face, but keep the upper lip clean shaven. The moisture from the breath congeals so quickly that a mustache becomes imbedded in a solid cake of ice, and the face is frozen in a short time.

What's in a Name?
The Westminster Gazette publishes "A Vesper Song of Spring, from the German of Irene Parloes Moros." This seems to be going a long way around after a German song.

Wine Rats.
The depredation of rats in his chicken yard caused Harry A. Lehr of York, Pa., to spread rat poison beneath the floor of his chicken coop. Instead of eating the poison the rats removed it to different parts of the yard. The next morning it was eaten by the fowls, as a result of which Mr. Lehr's flock of chickens is largely decreased.

Where Cats Are Welcome.
The god Plah is said to be worshipped with ardor in Boston, where the cat is as much a part of the household as any of the members. The Egyptians seemed to think the cat very important to happiness, and Boston can see no good in that class of society that is talking about the cat as a breeder of disease and a destroyer of birds, and not to be tolerated.

"To tell the truth, Dr. Richards," said the wife of one of our most prosperous merchants, "I have neglected my teeth for years, since Dr. Richards came to town. "Well," said Dr. Richards, "how was it this time?"

"You never hurt me one bit," said she and the Dr. had just finished filling a lot of her teeth with gold.

It is very pleasant to Dr. Richards to receive these kind words from bright, intelligent people who know when they receive good service and appreciate them.

CAR THIEVES PLEAD GUILTY AND WERE SENTENCED TODAY

Filed Petition Asking to Plead Guilty With Judge Fifield This Morning.

After waiting examination and having their trial set for Thursday, August 6th, the three freight car robbers who were captured on Thursday after a hot chase through the fields, decided this morning to plead guilty. They filed petitions with the court this morning asking that they be allowed to such a plea. Judge Fifield granted their request and they were sentenced as soon as the court opened.

Frank Cook was given two years, Henry Woodford, one year and six months and George Cook, one year and nine months in the state prison in Wausau for breaking open and robbing freight cars on Thursday night. Sheriff Fisher will take the trio up to Wausau next Monday.

Drunks in Court

James Welch and James Hogan were charged with being drunk and in default of payment of a fine of $2 and costs were committed to the county jail for five days. W. Kelley was given ten days to appear in default of a $1 fine. Fred O'Leary was fined but sentence was suspended on good behavior for one week. J. McManus was given until next Tuesday to pay his fine.

DETAILED ACCOUNT OF AWFUL TRAGEDY

Which Cost Miss Ida Fox Her Life at the Gold Street Crossing at 4:49 Yesterday Afternoon.

Details of the terrible accident at the Gold street crossing which cost Miss Ida Fox her life, could not be given in the brief account of the tragedy which was published yesterday. From the statements of Charles Neenan, an eye witness, it appears that Miss Fox was walking south on the Mineral Point division track, on her way back to the office from the car-repairing shop where she had transported orders to foreman Gus Abendroth. The office is located near the round-house, as she reached the Gold street crossing at 4:49 passenger train from Monroe came around the curve. It was too late for Engineer Mackindun of Milwaukee, to stop the locomotive when he sighted her and her back was turned. She heard the sharp whistle which blasted her and she was struck by the engine. The body was dragged twenty feet before it was released. The back of her skull was crushed and the blood over the temples badly lacerated, and from all appearances death must have been almost instantaneous.

The railroad men who came running to the scene were thoughtful enough to take precautions to cover the fearfully mangled remains from view of the aged father, General Foreman John C. Fox, and the sister, Miss Mary Fox, who were at work in the office at the time. The father has been in feeble health and it is feared that he will never return to the office again. The mother, also, was so severely overcome by the shock that a physician had to be summoned to the home at the corner of West Bluff and Madison streets.

In the daily performance of her duties as bookkeeper at the St. Paul round-house, Miss Fox was ever obliging and courteous and was held in the highest esteem by the railroad men. Aside from her activities in the work-a-day world, she was a devoted member of Trinity Episcopal church and a loyal, steadfast friend to all who knew her. Besides the members of the family already mentioned, she leaves one brother, Thomas F. Fox.

There will be regular services at Trinity church at half-past seven o'clock Monday morning and the funeral services will be held at two o'clock in the afternoon.

THREE CONCERNS TO BUILD THE SEWERS

People's Construction Co. Which Filed a Conditional Bid Will Accept Main Outlet Contract.

Last night Mayor Heddles and City Treasurer Edmonds, members of the street assessment committee, and Chairman Carle of the sewerage committee held a special session to pass upon the bids submitted in order to make recommendations at the meeting of the council next Monday night as to who shall receive the contracts for the $71,000 sewer construction work to be done here this fall.

The People's Construction company of Davenport, Ia., received the contract for the work on the Main sewer outlet, bulkhead, siphon, etc., which will be constructed of plain concrete. The figures which they submitted for this work were $45,917.60. They also received the contract for the work in district number four, the cement blocks made by the Rock County Concrete Stone company and invented by Mr. Burnley of New York to be used in the construction of the sewer in this district. Andrew Thompson of Racine submitted a lower bid for this work, but did not specify what kind of a structure he would provide, so the contract goes to the People's Construction company, who will build it for $5,225.37.

In districts 15, 11, 2, 5, and 6, Ryan & Finley were awarded the contracts. The Chicago Drainage company of Chicago secured the work in districts 12 and 11.

The work in the various districts will be commenced about the first of August and as the main outlet is so soon as the construction company can bring their men and equipment here.

Idaho Actor's Wardrobe.

Tommy Post, one of the many stage folk living at the house on Grove street burned recently, was the least loser of the actors stopping there. He lost a nightshirt and a red bandanna handkerchief, and the leg of one of his trousers was water-soaked. He will take immediate steps to replenish his wardrobe.—Idaho Statesman.

Bird and Insect Weavers.

The art of weaving, rope and net-making is practiced by some of the lower forms of life, notably among caterpillars and spiders. The weaver birds of Africa and India, which are a species of finch, construct wonderful nests out of leaves by sewing them together.

Woman in High Position.

The only woman in the world who bears the impressive title "demon of deans" is Miss Laura C. Carnell, who is a leader in the executive and educational work of Temple university, in Philadelphia.

ALARM TURNED IN; STRAW CAUGHT FIRE

Straw Stack on Resigau Place Again Caught Fire This Morning.

At 11:30 this morning a straw stack on the R. R. Resigau place began to smolder and Chief Klein sent several members of the fire department to put out the blaze. The Resigau place was burned yesterday, being set on fire by sparks from the Decker home.

The steam fire engine is out of commission now as the result of yesterday's fire. At no time during the day was the department able to get up more than one hundred pounds of steam though the engine is supposed to produce 240 pounds when needed. The packing was loosened and the engine will have to be retight before it can be used again.

With a first class engine yesterday's loss could have been materially lessened.

To fight the two blazes of yesterday required about thirty-five hundred feet of hose, fifteen hundred being in one lead.

Narrow Escape.
The department was exceedingly fortunate in being able to get the water on the Resigau house when they did. If the engine had not been used the fire might have gotten beyond control, and fanned by the wind, would have swept over the town. As it was the house on the east side was scorched and the house on the west side also.

Watch Found.
A gold watch was found in the road yesterday near the scene of the fire. The watch is now in the possession of Gen. D. Simpson awaiting the rightful owner.

Correcting an Error.
In the advertisement of Alfred Bros. yesterday in which they offered all of their $2.00, $2.50 and $3.00 ladies' oxfords at the one price of $1.28 an error was made by the printer making it read in one place "Thursday" where it should have read Saturday. This had a tendency to confuse, as the ad. appeared Friday. This should read "Saturday" as the sale is on today and these oxfords are being sold at the price, $1.28. The sale continues up to the time of closing tonight.

Mr. J. P. Barber is reported as not so well.

Mrs. P. Snyder is improving nicely, being able to sit up a good portion of each day.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Robinson who are playing with "Frazier's Kittens" at Forest Park, Chicago, were here Thursday and Friday visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Robinson.

Clarence Morrill of Sparta spent a part of the past week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Morrill, in Brodhead.

Weasels Attacked Cow.
Haymakers on the farm of H. A. Sell, near Hanover, Pa., noticed a cow in a nearby meadow strangely jumping about and bellowing loudly. Upon investigation they were astonished to find that eight weasels had attacked her. After a hard fight the farmers succeeded in killing several of the bloodsuckers and scattering the remainder.

Improbable Clerical Innovations.
The Massachusetts bishop who has ordered collections in a Worcester church to be taken by the cash register system evidently is not afraid that this business-like innovation will lead to others, such as trading stamps, bargain days and "satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded."

MRS. O. E. MERRILL OF BELOIT IS DEAD

Two Men Were Arrested Today For Breaking into a St. Paul Freight Car Loaded With Beer.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janeville Daily Gazette, August 1, 1868.—Accident.—Mr. John Demsey, a mason at work for Messrs. James & Rutherford on Harris & Field's new shop, about eight o'clock this morning, fell from the second story to the ground, a distance of about fifteen feet. He was quite seriously injured although no bones were broken.

St. Louis, July 31.—A villainous insult was offered to General Grant and party on their passage through St. Joseph the other day. After being escorted to the Pacific House by a large concourse of citizens, it was noticed that among the crowd was a party of rebels. From certain movements they made, it was evident they intended mischief. In response to great cheering Gen. Grant appeared on the balcony and made a brief speech, which was received with tremendous applause, after which Gen. Sherman was loudly called for, and appeared on the balcony. At this juncture the plan of the rebels developed. A man named Hays, having previously been filled with whiskey, commenced a disturnance by vigorously blowing a tin horn, and the others cheering and shouting and howling for Seymour in a most boisterous and insulting manner. General Sherman then withdrew.

New York, Aug. 1.—The Arlet of the New York and Bremen steamship line arrived here yesterday at quarantine with 864 passengers on board from Bremen, on the eleventh. A few days ago the smallpox made its appearance in a mild form in the steerage, and those who are ill from the disease will be removed to the hospital. The slight cases will be vaccinated and after the vessel is fumigated she will be permitted to come up to the city and discharge.

London Fog Forty Years Ago.

The fog reigned in a world of its own—a world of illusions, of exaggerations, of phantasms. MINERS ENTOMBED ALIVE

CAVE-IN AT COAL CREEK, B. C. CATCHES 24 MEN.

All But Three Rescued After Hope Was Abandoned—Saved by Leaking Air Pipes.

Fernie, B. C., Aug. 1.—A "jump" occurred in No. 2 mine, Coal Creek, about eight o'clock Friday morning and as a result 24 miners were entombed. All means of escape appeared to be cut off, and grave fears were entertained for their getting out alive, as the mine filled with gas and the work of rescue was very slow on this account.

A large number of rescuers went to work trying to get fresh air to the men, but some 600 or 700 yards of rock and coal had to be dug through before the men could be rescued. Special trains with mine officials and doctors aboard were rushed from Fernie to the scene of the accident.

Late in the afternoon, when all hope had been given up, 21 miners were rescued. Three men are still missing.

The men who were rescued owe their lives to the fact that the compressed air pipes leaked, and the escaping air kept back the gases which otherwise would have suffocated them.

Philip Caldwell was brought out of the mine in a precarious condition. He was farther in the mine than were the others and he suffered from gas.

The three men who are still entombed are in that portion of the mine where the gas is most deadly and are entirely cut off from fresh air. There is slight hope of their rescue.

WANTS MINE SEALED AS TOMB.

Report of Wyoming Inspector on the Disaster at Hanna.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Aug. 1.—In a report made to Gov. D. B. Brooks Friday on the Hanna coal mine disaster of last March, costing 59 lives, State Coal Mine Inspector Noah Young declares that certain laws governing the operation of coal mines had been violated by the Union Pacific Coal company in its haste to open up one entry in which there had been a fire, thereby causing an explosion. The inspector suggests that the mine be sealed forever as a tomb for the men whose bodies were not recovered, and makes recommendations for new statutes for the protection of men working underground.

Costly Popularity.

Fraser's cruiser Leon Gambetta is named after the famous politician, who died on December 31, 1882. In the time of his intense popularity Gambetta had an experience which he was wont to tell against himself. In Paris admirers unhooked his horses and dragged the carriage to his house. Gambetta would narrate this with an air of pride, and he would add, with a smile: "But I never saw my horses again."

FARMAN IN TWO GOOD FLIGHTS

SUCCESSFUL TESTS OF FRENCH AEROPLANE ARE MADE.

AERO CLUB IS JUBILANT

Machine Soars Swiftly and Alights Gracefully—Dirigible Balloon Man Meets with an Accident.

New York, Aug. 1.—Rising from the ground like a giant bird and darting through the air at express train speed, Henri Farman's aeroplane, the Inter-continental, brought here from France to demonstrate his ability to fly, made its initial flight in this country late Friday afternoon at Brighton Beach.

It rose from an especially prepared runway at the will of the inventor and after attaining a height of 25 feet flew straight ahead on a direct line, finally alighting with exquisite grace when the noted air pilot diminished the motive power.

Farman Heartily Cheered. During the brief space of time in which the aeroplane was skimming over the center field of the racetrack, the few hundred spectators, most of whom were friends of the inventor or rival aviators, watched the flight with breathless interest. The instant the tri-axial machine landed cheers rent the air—cheers far more enthusiastic and vociferous than those of a racetrack crowd. Farman was surrounded and literally hugged by the jubilant aeromaniacs. Members of the Aero Club of America, under whose auspices Farman will conduct his public flights at Brighton Beach, wanted to carry the successful inventor off the field on their shoulders.

There were skeptics in the crowd who would not believe until they saw, and they watched the "flying up" of the aeroplane in doubting silence. Farman's mechanics rushed about, getting the queer-shaped ship ready for the flight, and when wings had been made taut and the motor tested, the ship was carried to the plank runway near the field stand.

Makes Two Flights. Farman gave the order "let go," and away sped the aeroplane over the plank roadway. It ran swiftly along on its wheels for 210 yards and then Farman turned a lever, which sent it into the air like magic and away it flew. The propeller made a whirling noise as it turned 800 times to the minute. Only 350 yards were covered in the air in this flight, but a few minutes later Farman made another try and traveled 760 yards in the air. He could have gone much further, he said, but feared striking a pile of lumber.

As a rival attraction to Farman, Frank Hamilton, an American aviator, sailed his dirigible balloon into the race course while Farman was preparing to make his flights. Hamilton's balloon soared over the track grandstand and circled the field. When it was coming back a blade of the propeller broke and the balloon was banged up against the grandstand, throwing Hamilton out. Farman was the first person to go to his assistance, and he shook his rival aviator warmly by the hand when he learned he had not been injured. Hamilton secured a new propeller and sailed away.

CHAPTER XV.

THE dark, muffled figure of a man leaned against a section of the old wall that edged the lake—the figure of a man who prayed with all his soul that his vigil might be in vain. If she came, all was over.

He was not armed. He had thrown his revolver away a week before. His only desire now was to learn the extent of her duplicity. If she obeyed the call of the lover then there could be no doubt that she was coming at the call of the lover. His hands twitched, and he shivered as if with a dreadful chill. His heart was shouting a warning to her, but his head was urging her to come and have done with it all.

He was there early—long before the hour named in the decoy. His eyes never left the sidewalk that ran past his own home, but a short distance from the Drive. They stared without blinking across the dark border through the circle of light from the arc lamp and far into the shadows of blackness beyond. It was very dark where he stood. The lake had battered through the sea wall for many rods at this particular point, and no one ventured out beyond the brittle path for fear of slipping down into the cavities that had been washed out by the waves. His station was on the edge of the piles of stone and cement that had been tossed up to await the pleasure of the park commissioners.

For awhile he tried to take Jane's future into consideration, but it was impossible to substitute anything before his own wrongs. David Cable was not the kind of man who would go on living with a faithless wife for the sake of appearance. He was not an apologist. Time and circumstance and the power of true love would adjust the affair of Jane and Graydon Danemer. This was his aim. Time could not adjust it for him.

At last he saw a woman's figure hurrying down the street. The wild, eager hope that the light from the electric lamp would prove it to be other than that of his wife was quickly dispelled. His worst fears were true. His Frances, his wife of more than a score of years, his pretty sweetheart through all those days, was false to him! As he fell back against the wall something seemed to snap in his breast; a groan of misery arose to his lips.

With eyes which saw red with rage and anguish, he watched the hesitating approach of the woman. She stopped at the corner and looked up and down the Drive, peering intently into the dark shadows by the lake. The sky was overcast. No stars peeped through the blackness. With uncertain, halting steps she crossed the boulevard, still glancing about as if in search of some one. He moved forward unconsciously, almost blindly, and she caught a glimpse of his tall, dark figure. He was not unlike Danemer in height and carriage. As she drew near, his legs trembled and tears of despair flooded his eyes.

A savage desire to grasp her by the throat and hurl her into the waters beyond the break came over him with irresistible power. Then came the pitiable collapse which conquered the murderous impulses and left him weak and broken for the moment. With a sob he turned and leaned upon the wall, his back to her, his face buried in his tattered coat—crushed, despoiled, disheveled. Kill her? The horror of it swept his brain clear for an instant. Kill his pretty Frances? Kill Jane's mother? How could he think of it?

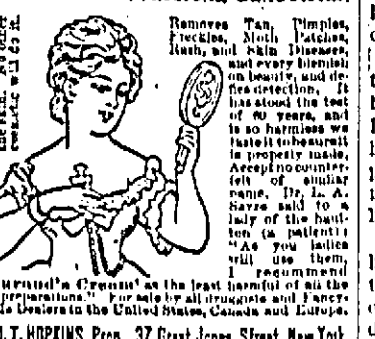

It was a long time before the wretched man knew that she was standing close behind him and was speaking to him. The sound of her voice came through the noise of his pounding heart as if it were far away and gentle. But what was it that she was saying? Her voice was angry, suppressed, condemning.

"You may take it or refuse it, just as you please," were the first words of his turbulent senses distinguished. "I can pay no more than that for your silence. The other is impossible. I will not discuss it again with you." She paused as if waiting for him to respond.

"Don't tell I shall tell my husband."

everything—the whole story. I didn't endure the suspense any longer. I will not live in fear of you another hour. My only reason for coming out here tonight is to plead with you to spare your son and Jane. I am not asking anything for myself. It would break Jane's heart if Graydon should refuse to marry her. You must have a heart somewhere in that"—But the words became jumbled in the ears of her listener. From time to time his mind grasped such sentences as these, paralyzing in their bitterness: "I have the letters of adoption. David will not believe what you say. He loves me, and he loves Jane. I am willing to pay all that I have to keep it from Graydon and Jane. But I intend to tell my husband. I will not deceive him any longer. He will understand, even though he should hate me for it. He will love Jane, although she is not his own child."

David Cable seemed frozen to the spot. His brain was clearing; he was grasping the full importance of every sentence that rushed from her impassioned lips. The last appalling words fell like the blow of a club in the hands of a powerful man. He was dazed, stunned, speechless. It seemed to him that his breath had ceased to come and that his whole body had turned to stone. His wide staring eyes saw nothing ahead of him.

"Well, what have you to say?" she was demanding. "Why have you asked me to come out here? You have my final answer. What have you to say? Are you going to tell Graydon that Jane is not our child? I must know."

"Not our child?" came from the pale lips of David Cable, so low and lifeless that the sound was lost in the swirl of the water below. The intermittent red signal in the lighthouse far out in the lake blinked back at him, but to him it was a steady, vivid glare.

"Do you hear me? I have lied to my husband for the last time!" There was almost a tone of victory in the voice now. "Do you hear me? You don't dare! David will not believe you. He will believe me!"

A terrible oath choked back the hopeful words in the woman's throat. Murder had come back into the man's heart.

"You lie!"
"David!"
"Yes, it's David! Lie! Whose child is she? Tell me!"

"David! David! For God's sake, hear me! There was no wrong, I swear it!"

"She's not my child and there's no wrong!" The scornful laugh that followed was that of a raging maniac. "You've fooled me, you fiend! You devil!"

At that word and with one look at her husband's terribly distorted features, Frances Cable shrank back with a single terrified cry, turned from him and fled madly for her life. With the spring of the wild beast, Cable rushed after her.

With the spring of the wild beast, Cable rushed after her.

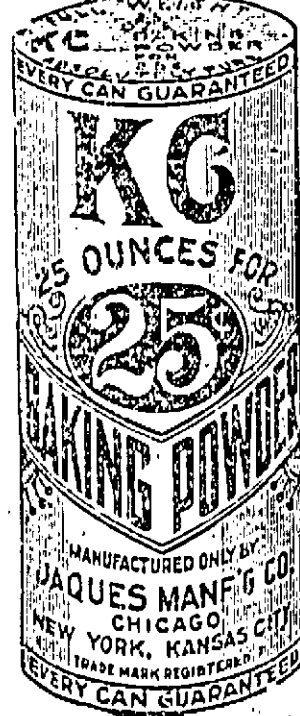

after her, cursing her with every breath. In a few yards he had almost reached her, his hands outstretched to grasp her neck. But at that instant the frightened woman's strength suddenly gave way. Her knees received the full of the leap body. For a second she reeled in a posture of prayer, then toppled over, slipped easily forward through a fissure in the wall and plunged headfirst into the chugging waters below.

In the lives even of the best men there are moments when the human instincts are annihilated and extinguished by those of the beast. Likewise have there been instances in which the bravest have been tried in the furnace and found wanting, while, conversely, the supposedly cowardly have proved to be heroes. Therefore since no two situations can occur at a different time and yet have precisely similar conditions, it behooves us to forbear judging, lest we be judged, and to approach the following incident in this man's career as if we ourselves dwelt under a covering of glass.

From the time of his marriage up to this moment no man could have fought better the bitter struggle of life than David Cable, yet now in this hour—his hour of travail and temptation—he pitifully succumbed. Cowardice, the most despicable of all emotions, held him in her grasp.

He sank exhausted against the wall, his eyes fixed upon the black heap through which his wife had disappeared; then the story gave changed suddenly to a look of realization—horrible.

Do You Open Your Mouth

Like a young bird and gulp down what ever food or medicine may be offered you? Or do you wait to know something of the composition and character of that which you take into your stomach whether as food or medicine?

Most intelligent and sensible people now-a-days insist on knowing what they employ whether as food or as medicine. Dr. Pierce believes they have a perfect right to base upon such knowledge. So he publishes, broadcast and on each bottle wrapper, what his medicines are made of and recites the ingredients. This he feels he can not afford to do because the ingredients of which his medicines are made are studied and understood that there will be their superior curative virtues.

For the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses, irregularities and derangements, giving rise to frequent headaches, backache, dragging-down pain or distress in lower abdominal or pelvic region, accompanied, oftentimes, with a debilitating, pelvic, catarrhal drain and kindred symptoms of weakness, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a most efficient remedy. It is equally effective in curing painful periods, in giving strength to nursing mothers and in restoring the system of the expectant mother for baby's coming, thus rendering childbirth safe and comparatively painless. The "Favorite Prescription" is a most potent, strengthening tonic to the general system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. It is also a soothing and invigorating nervine and cures nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, chorea or St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing nervous symptoms attendant upon functional and organic diseases of the distinctly feminine organs.

A host of medical authorities of all the several schools of practice, recommend each of the several ingredients of which "Favorite Prescription" is made for the cure of the diseases for which it is claimed to be a cure. You may read what they say for yourself by sending a postal card request for a free booklet of extracts from the leading authorities to Dr. J. C. Pierce, Lowell, Mass. and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., and it will come to you by return post.

VIEWS ALONG THE WAY IN THE GLIDDEN TOUR.

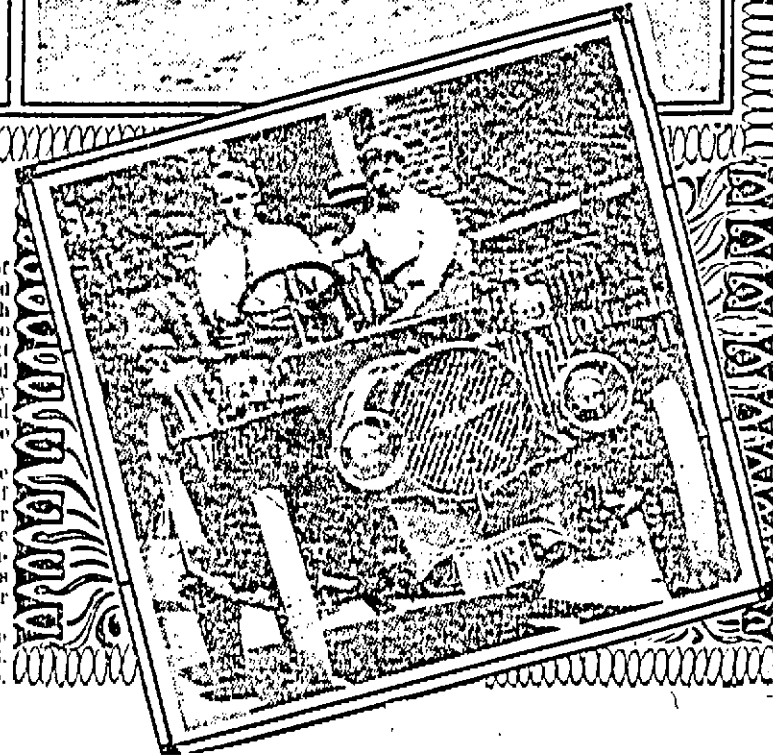

Upper left shows two of the contestants, G. P. Moore, at the wheel in the left, and A. C. Miller at the wheel in the right, just as they were starting from Harrisburg, Pa. At the upper right is shown three of the cars along the Pennsylvania highway. Below this is shown Charles Talbot and his Franklin car as they were passing through Harrisburg.

The Glidden automobile tour is the classic touring event of the auto world. The cars enter the event to be judged by their powers of endurance rather than speed, in which particular the tour differs from any of the other auto events. The cars stick to a certain schedule each day and even should one car run for inside of the schedule it would do it no good as far as the scoring is done, although the drivers thereby gain more time to get their cars shaped up for the next day's run. After the cars are checked in at the close of each day's run they must be parked and cannot be touched until the order is given to start the next day's run.

The Glidden trophy for which the car contest is not the only prize of the tour, for there is another honor which is sought, the winning of the flower trophy for runabouts. Entered in this tour are 13 runabouts which keep up well with the larger cars.

This is the sixth annual tour, the first one having been held in 1903. The cup is now held by the Buffalo Automobile club.

THE CITY BOY.

Go over the list of men in the city who have done things. Ninety-nine of them were reared in the country.

Why is this so?

Because a boy needs wide spaces in which to grow. He needs elbow room. The boyish spirit is a wild one. He must be noisy. He must bubble over, just as a teakettle must. In the city he is cramped, confined, confined.

Poor city boy!

For him there are no wide echoing fields or shady woods where wanderlust may lead him. For him no vent of blood that runs riot in his veins. For him no company and touch of sympathetic nature.

Poor city boy!

They say he is awkward, rude, destructive. What wonder? The wonder is that he does not explode. He is all boy; that's why he is worth "raising." He spells Force! And he is scolded and blamed for being what he is. Mothers fear he will spoil the furniture if he stays in the house. Girls the day he has money and let him go out on to the streets—streets that oftentimes are the very gates of hell.

An unsocial boy—in city or in country—is about the finest thing on two legs.

The normal boy—under his vest—is affectionate. His heart—if you know how to find it—is larger than his head. He is naturally honest. He is also frank. And, above all else, the real boy stands four square, everywhere and always, for fair play. He believes in the square deal. Later on he may lose some of these qualities. Disillusioned, he may quit wearing his heart on his sleeve. But as a boy—he is simply admirable!

Give the city boy his chance.

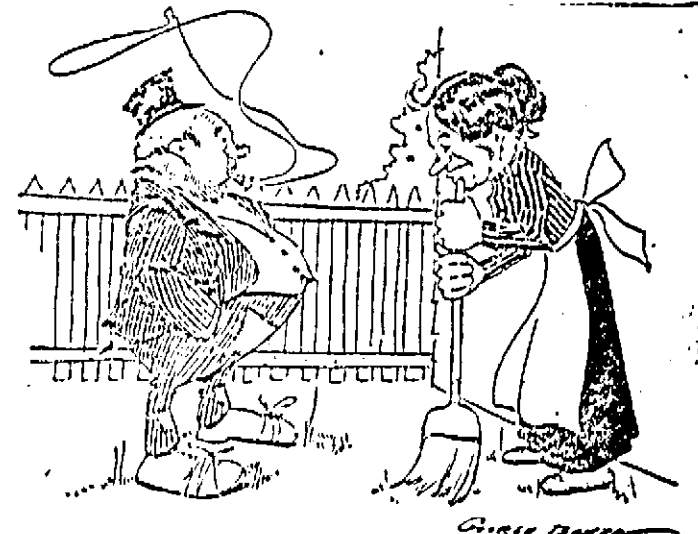

Send him to the country as often as possible. There is where he naturally belongs. Let him build his shop in the back yard or in the basement. Give him, if possible, a room of his own.

Of course his room will often be topsy-turvy. Let it. He is not a young gentleman. He is a boy. And God bless him! Let him bring his chums home with him. Let them romp and "raise Cain." Give him vent.

Give the city boy a chance, you public officials. Give him playgrounds and room for his exuberant voice. Multiply the parks. Ventilate his schoolroom. And when he goes wrong provide a juvenile court and proper guardians.

The country reared boy has beaten the city reared boy because the former has had the better chance.

 Tramp—No—I ain't one of them here joke-book tramps. I want some bread and meat.

Naturalization Requisite.

A residence of at least five years is required to qualify an alien for naturalization. No matter how long a man may have been in the United States, two years must elapse between the date of his declaration of intention and his admittance to full citizenship.

Badly Deceived.

Mr. Juggers (returning from the bench at one a. m. and finding his wife waiting for him at the head of the stairs)—The two-headed w-w-woman 'n' the man-movin' stairway, b'gosh. I'm back at Coney Island, after all—Lippincott's.

Recruiting by Women.

A new and profitable vocation for women is suggested by the statement of Col. Walsh, in command of St. George's barracks recruiting station that females are eligible as recruiting agents for the army.—London Woman.

Appropriate to the Occasion.

During the singing of a hymn that starts "Happy birds that sing and fly" a thrush flew down from the roof of St. Peter's church at Rickmansworth, England, and settled on the hymn book held by one of the congregation.

Last and Worst.

There is no longer any doubt, our Shanghai correspondent tells us, that the old order of thought which has guided the lives of countless millions in the Chinese empire through a long succession of centuries is passing away forever. The movement in favor of western education has become irresistible.—London Times.

Practical Economy.

If you would succeed in business, never spend a cent more than you earn. No matter how small your earnings, you should master this art. I use the word "art" advisedly, for many young men appear to fritter away without so much as a thought, all their earnings.—Marshall Field.

Forcing the Child.

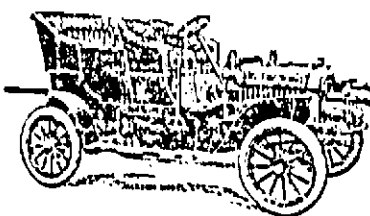

Do not force a child unduly to practice the piano, lest it acquire a distaste for the study, which both child and parent may bitterly regret in later years, says Woman's Life. It is little short of a crime to compel any form of study in a child even though it happens to have a natural talent for a particular art.

SOLD

Two Jackson Model "C"

5 passenger cars sold in Janesville this week in competition with all other makes. It is not surprising. Here are a few of the points that make the $1250 "Jackson" the greatest money value offered this year: Two cylinders, 24 horse power, giving simplicity, and power greater than any other two cylinder car, and giving equal, if not greater, results, in actual practice, than most 4 cylinder cars.

Large 32 inch wheels with long wheel base and excellent springs, unquestionably making it an unusually easy riding car with excellent proportions.

Roomy tonneau and with first class upholstery, no crowding when 5 people are riding; plenty of space then for luggage. Easy to operate. After you get started one lever, the throttle, operates everything almost, fast or slow, uphill or downhill. We could talk about this car all day long, but to sum up: It is "right" in every respect, and we ask nothing more than to show it up in competition with any other makes of cars to every prospective purchaser.

PARK HOTEL GARAGE

Every one of our cars are fully guaranteed in every respect. New cars used in livery service. Give us a trial.
